Medical staff bylaws revised

Hospital board approves expansion project plans

The Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees Monday approved final construction plans for the hospital expansion project and agreed to let bids for the work immediately.

In other matters, the board revised the medical staff by laws outlining requirements for staff status.

Bids will be let for some $800,000 construction work to expand facilities at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Included in the plan are the addition of four wings on the west side of the hospital which will increase the patient capacity from 87 to 107, relocation of the nurses stations to better serve the patients, remodeling and expansion of the medical records and pharmaceutical facilities, and improvement of outpatient facilities by the addition of a laboratory with a private entrance adjacent to the emergency wing.

The three-phase project was launched last fall with preliminary drawings submitted by Brubaker-

Brandt Inc., a Columbus architectural firm. Phase II and Phase III, which provide for further expansion at a later date, are only vaguely outlined and will not be seriously considered until Phase I is completed and additional funding becomes available.

The present plans have been financed completely with monies from a number of existing hospital funds, including a $715,000 bequest from the Wilbur Welton estate, according to Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator. He added that the money received from the sale of a 300-acre hospital farm will not be used to finance the first phase.

Construction work for the first phase is expected to begin early this spring and will take approximately one year to complete.

Kunz emphasized that room rates are not expected to increase due to the expansion program. Although hospital costs have taken a sharp increase during the past year, he said this is due to the mounting cost of supplies and services. These increases can be expected to continue, but the additional beds provided by the program should pay for the construction costs over the next several years, he added.

BYLAW REVIEW is an annual procedure, Kunz said, and revision is not unusual. The change this year, however, is especially significant because it may eliminate the need for further action on a court suit filed by Dr. Philip Binzel Jr., a Washington C. H. physician.

Although Kunz stressed that the review of the bylaws began approximately a month and a half before Dr. Binzel filed his suit against the hospital board, he noted that it may eliminate the problem to which Dr. Binzel makes reference in his petition to the court.

Dr. Binzel said that he was removed from the rolls of the active medical staff because he could not comply with the staff requirements. Instead he was granted associate staff privileges, which allowed him to admit only 10 patients per year for treatment at the hospital. He had sought an injunction against the hospital to render the restriction in the by-laws ineffective.

He noted that doctors who were non-Fayette County residents could admit as many patients as they desired while doctors residing in the county who were hospital "associates" could admit only 10. He objected saying that the board discriminated against Fayette County residents.

According to Kunz, the bylaws have been revised to allow any doctor to admit an unlimited number of patients to the hospital. He also stated that while there is still a requirement that those seeking active staff status serve "on-call" for emergencies, the fact that a qualified physician is now in the emergency room 24 hours each day has allowed the board to relax the "on-call" requirements. Staff doctors can be called upon much less often under the new system.

Kunz said the action was not a result of Dr. Binzel's suit, but a result of an in-depth study by the medical staff as to what will be best for the hospital and the community.

He noted that before any change in the by-laws is made, the proposal is considered by several committees of hospital physicians. First a proposed change is considered by the review committee, composed of staff doctors. If it is approved by the review group, it is submitted to the executive committee of the medical staff for consideration. If approved there, it is put to a vote of the entire medical staff. Each of these steps was completed before the board of hospital trustees even received the proposal, Kunz indicated. "These changes were being considered months ago," he said.

Although it is likely that these changes will eliminate the difficulty which prompted Dr. Binzel's suit, the doctor said he could not yet be sure of their implications because he had not seen the by-laws in their final form.

"I hope the changes mean the suit can be dismissed," Dr. Binzel said, "But I will have to get a copy of the by-laws and discuss them with my attorney."

In other action, the board approved the installation of new smoke and fire detection equipment. The detectors would be connected to the fire doors at each wing of the hospital. If there is excessive heat or smoke, the detectors would immediately activate the fire doors as well as sounding a warning siren. Cost of the equipment is $1,057.

The statistical report was submitted by Kunz. It disclosed 342 admissions during January, and 2,073 in-patient days. There was an average of 66.87 persons in the hospital each day.

Occupancy in the hospital was at 78.04 per cent, with 88.78 per cent occupancy in the medical and surgical division. The average length of stay was 6.31 days per patient, and 7.17 days per patient in medical and surgical.

There were 1,047 x-rays taken, and 6,496 laboratory tests performed.

The emergency room treated 1,274 patients. There were 66 major surgeries performed and 91 minor surgeries.

The average revenue received to date has been $95.19 per patient day. The budget estimated $91.39, and the national average is $122.46.

The actual expenses have been $92.95 per patient day. The budget called for $95.82, and the national average is $120.36.

The actual expense per patient for his entire stay has been $563.40. The budget estimated $543.30, and the national average is $874.52.

have many relatives and friends residing there. Although Dr. Rose has practiced in Washington C.H. ever since he was discharged from the U.S. Army after World War II, he had previously practiced in Sabina. Approximately one-fourth of his patients still reside in Clinton County.

"Besides fulfilling our desire to return home, the move will allow us to repay, in some small way, those who have faithfully traveled from Wilmington all these years," Mrs. Rose said.

In addition to moving his practice to Wilmington, Dr. Rose hopes to find a slightly smaller number of patients there. He would like to spend more time fishing, something he has not had much opportunity to do during the past several years.

Since he will be practicing medicine there, it cannot be called retirement.

Lynchburg man victim of small plane crash

WILMINGTON — The body of a Lynchburg man was found Monday inside the wreckage of his single-engine airplane that had crashed in poor weather sometime Sunday afternoon.

The pilot was identified by the Clinton County coroner as James W. Braham, 41, Lynchburg.

Braham was alone in the plane. The flight had originated in Wilmington for Bainbridge in Ross County.

At approximately 11 a.m. Monday, a Civil Air Patrol search plane spotted the wreckage of the Cessna 172 in a cornfield two miles southwest of the Clinton County Airport, just north of Wilmington. A short time later, the dead pilot trapped inside the wreckage was identified as Braham.

DISCOVERY of the downed plane ended a two-day search of Clinton and Brown counties by some 125 members of the CAP. Planes were not used until Monday due to poor visibility, officials said.

Investigating officers from the Wilmington post of the Ohio Highway Patrol called for an investigating team from the Federal Aviation Administration and late Monday the team was reported en route. The airplane was totally demolished, Ohio Highway Patrol officers said.

The site of the crash was in a cornfield next to a small wooded area. Officials at the Clinton County Airport confirmed that Braham was warned not to go out Sunday afternoon in the bad weather. The flight to Bainbridge, normally about 20 minutes, was for maintenance purposes, officials said.

Braham had received his private pilot's license in October. He was employed at Rickenbacker Air Force Base in Columbus.

The body was first taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital in Wilmington, then transferred to the Davis Funeral Home in Lynchburg, where services will be held.

Nixon impoundment of funds illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon exceeded his authority in withholding $9 billion authorized by Congress for pollution control, the Supreme Court declared unanimously today.

It was the first time the Supreme Court has ruled on a presidential impoundment of funds, although numerous impoundments were struck down by lower federal courts during the Nixon administration.

Congress has since passed legislation giving itself power to control such impoundments.

Speaking through Justice Byron R. White, the Supreme Court said the act under which the pollution-control money was appropriated "was intended to provide a firm commitment of substantial sums within the relatively limited period of time in an effort to achieve an early solution of what was deemed an urgent problem."

"We cannot believe that Congress at the last minute scuttled the entire effort by providing the executive with the seemingly limitless power to withhold funds from allotment and obligation," White said.

Seven of the justices joined in full in White's opinion. Justice William O. Douglas, who is recovering from a stroke, concurred in the result.

In 1972, Congress authorized the appropriations not to exceed $5 billion for fiscal year 1973, $6 billion for fiscal 1974 and $7 billion for fiscal 1975 for sewage treatment grants.

Russell Train, then administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, acting on the Nixon's orders, allotted $2 billion for 1973, $3 billion for 1974 and $4 billion for 1975.

The City of New York challenged the Nixon administration's failure to allocate the full amount. The bill authorizing the funds was passed over Nixon's veto.

The Supreme Court's decision upheld a ruling by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington that the administration was obligated to allocate the full amount.

NFO BANQUET — National Farmers Organization director Glen Utley appears to be telling local members "Stop the corporate takeover of agriculture" in his speech Monday during the annual Fayette County NFO banquet. Local president William Burr is seated to the left of Utley.

NFO director speaks at annual fete here

BY SANDY FOSSON

"The battle we are facing is who is going to control agriculture — the farmers or the corporate structures," National Farmers Organization director Glen Utley of Indiana told local members Monday attending the annual banquet in the Mahan Building. Utley was guest speaker during the banquet where over 150 persons from the Fayette County area attended. William Burr, president of the Fayette County NFO chapter, introduced the eleventh-term director following brief comments by the Ohio national director Tom Conrad.

"THE CORPORATIONS are getting control of our food sources," Utley said. "They import millions of pounds of meat each year to try to lower prices from the farmers. While dairymen in this country must go through stiff inspections, the corporations can import food from starving countries overseas with hair, flies, DDT and manure in it and then mix it with our good products to resell for a profit."

The 49-year-old Indiana farmer emphasized the importance of acquainting the farmers with the attempts to control agriculture from the corporate powers in the United States. "The people we're fighting to get justice in the marketplace understand it — now, we've got to get the farmers to understand," Utley said.

"How much of your food supply do you want to depend on from another country when they can shut the supply off overnight?" he questioned. "We're importing as much food as we are oil and look what happened to oil last winter."

Utley told NFO members that the solution resided with the farmers through blocking the corporate pricing and establishing set prices on commodities.

Utley said that with farmers working together as a unit in the NFO, the NFO could set a price of production plus reasonable profit on food products through collective bargaining once it has obtained 30 per cent of production of all commodities in the country.

The "Think 30" theme of the NFO based on the 30 per cent mark has evolved from a history of the NFO being forced by industry to build its own collection points and barge facilities and establish its own transportation, Utley added.

Through its transformation, the NFO has set up a collection, dispatch and delivery system in order that farmers can send their bargainers directly to the processors, rather than to buyers who normally would sell to only four or five processors, so that the processors must compete for the products.

THROUGH EXPANSION and tighter organization in this system, Utley said the NFO can become "stronger than all the money in the U.S."

Utley said the actions of farmers recently, such as killing calves and dumping milk was to demonstrate the plight of the farmers to the consumers. "Those dairy farmers were going out of business and nobody paid any attention but they're paying attention now. It's stupid to say the feed is too high; the livestock is too cheap," he said.

"You can drive secondhand automobiles but secondhand food is not too good," he added in re-emphasizing the expected consequences of allowing corporations to control the food pricing.

Three indicted by grand jurors

Three men have been indicted by the February term of the Fayette County grand jury on felony charges. Two of the men are Washington C. H. residents; the other's address is unknown.

Arnold Johnson, 71, of 111 Hickory Lane, was indicted for felonious assault, Stanley (Thomas) Cartwright, 50, address unknown, was indicted for robbery and carrying a concealed weapon, and Maynard D. Anders, 32, of 632 E. Paint St., was indicted on a charge of grand theft.

James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann, Fayette County prosecuting attorneys, presented the state's evidence to the grand jurors. The indictments mean that there is sufficient evidence to warrant holding each man for a jury trial.

Johnson was arrested by Washington C. H. police officers following a disturbance at the Dublin Bar, 216 E. Court St., Dec. 30. A 32-year-old Washington C. H. man was hospitalized with knife wounds allegedly inflicted by Johnson while the two were drinking that afternoon. At the time of the arrest, witnesses at the scene were unable to provide police officers with any clue as to the cause of the quarrel.

Cartwright was arrested Jan. 16 after an apparent robbery attempt was foiled at Weegie's Town Tavern, 224 E. Court St. The defendant reportedly threatened an employee at knife point while demanding the money from the bar's cash register.

The incident ended shortly after a patron in the bar at the time hit Cartwright over the head with a pool stick. Police officers were summoned, and Cartwright was charged with robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

It was later reported that Cartwright had been in the bar several times that afternoon and made no attempt to rob the establishment — even though there were no patrons in the bar at the time. He reportedly claimed later that he was cold and hungry, and hoped to be arrested following his attempt.

Anders was arrested by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies and charged with the theft of 50 screwdriver sets valued at more than $500. An employee at Mac Tools Inc., U.S. 35-S, where the screwdriver sets are manufactured, Anders was arrested following an intensive investigation by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies and plant security personnel.

Judge Evelyn W. Coffman accepted the findings of the grand jury, but did not immediately schedule trial dates for the defendants. Indictments were returned on each of the cases considered by the grand jurors.

Jury to probe no-show Demos

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Franklin County grand jury will be asked today to consider charges that Democratic campaign workers got no-show jobs with the state during the waning days of the administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

"I plan to go before the regular Franklin County grand jury Tuesday to explain the case and ask their cooperation in subpoenaing records and witnesses," Franklin County Prosecutor George C. Smith said Monday.

Smith, a Republican, included among those he planned to question Lt. Gov. Richard Celeste, Joseph Sommer, director of Administrative Services under Gilligan, and John E. Hansan, Gilligan's chief of staff. Smith said he did not "at this time" intend to call Gilligan.

Smith's announcement marked continued momentum for an investigation which has expanded to include six state departments since Celeste disclosed early last week that he had placed five campaign aides in state jobs after the Nov. 7 election.

Celeste said he arranged for the jobs with Sommer so that he could have a transitional staff between his election as lieutenant governor and swearing in Jan. 12. He contended his action was common practice" and that the five employees all had been engaged in legitimate state business.

However, within hours after Celeste's announcement, the Department of Industrial Relations said it was investigating the work records of one of Celeste's people and 19 other employees. Deputy Director Sam McAdow said the department suspected fraud.

Governors unhappy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many governors gathering here to discuss the nation's economic crisis say their states can't afford President Ford's budget cuts and generally disapprove of his energy program.

In a survey of governors arriving for the midwinter meeting of the National Governors Conference, a big majority said their states could not pay for programs where federal support was being trimmed or held constant in the face of rising costs.

The governors meet in various committees today and with but he does hope to have a less strenuous schedule.

Dr. Rose said he has enjoyed his stay in Washington C.H., and with the coming of more medical personnel he feels he can now leave without "foresaking" the many friends he has made here.

His office will be opened by one of the new doctors almost immediately when he leaves, and at least two doctors are expected by the end of the summer.

'Nixon tapes' newest hoax

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Mail order advertisements are appearing in newspapers around the country offering the reader his own personal copy of the "Nixon tapes" for just $10.

But police in this coastal community where former President Richard M. Nixon makes his home say that instead of getting a recording of oval office conversations, respondents receive a 30-minute tape of old Nixon speeches.

"But there's nothing we can do," said Det. Sgt. Arden Saunders following an investigation into the matter for possible mail fraud. The ad gives a San Clemente post office box and the probe was prompted by complaints to local police from around the country.

Saunders said they are Nixon tapes, even though they aren't the famed Watergate tapes that eventually led to Nixon's resignation last August.

Stock list turns weak

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices headed higher today in active trading after bad news about some blue chips sent the market into an early slump. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down about 6 points in the first hour, turned and rose .62 to 734.82 at noon.

Advances and declines ran about even and sales were active but fell short of their recent record-breaking pace.

The broad-based NYSE composite index was up .01 at 43.22 at noon.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .05 at 76.74 at noon.

Brokers said declining interest rates continued to give investors a reason for putting money into stocks rather than alternative interest-bearing investments.

Chemical Bank of New York reduced its prime lending rate for corporations to an industrylow 8.5 per cent, while many other bank prime rates fell to 8.75 per cent.

The freed highway funds

It is good that President Ford has freed for early use two billion of the 11 billion dollars in impounded highway funds. This will put an estimated 140,000 people to work, and there are other benefits as well.

The question was raised whether it is inconsistent to stimulate highway construction while at the same time urging conservation of gasoline. The point is not well taken. More highway mileage, and improvements on existing roads, will not necessarily increase gasoline consumption. The highway program is going to go forward in any case. It might as well be pushed now as a means of giving the depressed construction industry a badly needed shot in the arm.

One thing to hope for is that a substantial amount of the released federal money will go, not for highways, but for mass transit systems. States are legally entitled to use up to one-third of the federal money available to them for rapid transit instead of highway construction. This, too, would give men jobs, and it would have the desirable effect of speeding up use of mass transit as an alternative to use of private autos for routine transportation.

WASHINGTON CALLING. . . By Marquis Childs

What's in a label?

WASHINGTON — How totally meaningless current political labels are is seen in the banner of those coming together as "conservatives" to challenge President Ford. They seem to believe that by cutting social programs they will conserve the present system, whereas it is perfectly obvious that if such cust could be put through against the resistance of a Democratic congress, they would only deepen the already serious recession.

They are a kind of suicide squad. In the war in the Pacific kamikazi was the term for Japanese pilots who crashed their planes onto American warships.

That appears to be the role of the true believers on the right taking aim at the Republican President.

If nothing else they will succeed in making Ford look good. To the best of his ability he is struggling against fearful odds to overcome a situation that was not of his making. Deficit financing is perilous on the scale proposed by the Administration. But if the "conservatives" have an alternative, it is to combine budget cuts with heavy taxation, a sure mixture at this stage to deepen the recession.

However much one may disagree with his program in whole or in part,

Ford is out battling for what he believes to be the right. This is in marked contrast with the Democratic congress which has only belatedly come up with a counter program of energy conservation and taxation.

There are hints that these "conservatives" would like to supplant Ford as the party's nominee in 1976. The suggestion is that he might be replaced by Ronald Reagan, the former governor of California who is now out on the chicken patty circuit for the "conservatives" as he once travelled that circuit as a flack for General Electric. But Reagan is reported playing coy.

Ford has said that regardless of the state of the economy next year, described by his soothsayers in the gloomiest possible terms, he will run for re-election. A view increasingly held is that he may opt out when the showdown comes.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
Unexpected complications may call for sudden change in a business program but, in making it, rely on your own judgment — not that of others.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
If a "good" idea backfired, don't be discouraged. Look into the possible reasons — and make a new start. No good idea or effort is ever a total loss.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
A splendid day for clearing away recent differences which, if allowed to crystallize, could become real problems. A bit of frank talk could do the trick.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
New opportunities indicated in many fields — but especially where monetary interests are concerned. A splendid time for consolidating your position in this respect.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Your best stock in trade — salesmanship — gets a boost from friendly solar influences. Now's the time to display your wares — and yourself — with as much showmanship as you can muster.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
As with Gemini, this is a day for frankness. Hashing things over with superiors and (or) associates could prove exceptionally profitable.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Devoid of planetary encouragement now, you may tend to feel lost. But don't. Instead, accelerate, reactivate your interests, and you will land on safe shores.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Some opposition, but also plenty of smooth sailing if you are ready to pitch in and set your sights straight toward worthwhile goals. Appraise values warily.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Restrain yourself, no matter how strong the urge to take direct action becomes. This is a day for planning — not for involvement in complex situations.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Collaborate on a program with associates who have allied interests and principles. Some excellent ideas could result from a "meeting of minds."

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Stellar influences mild, yet you can have a successful day. Taboo wild schemes, daring ventures. There's a tendency toward recklessness now.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Some persons may react in a manner not fully anticipated. Do not let this throw you off balance or ruin your innately serene disposition.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with many talents, through which you can achieve a highly successful life. You are versatile, imaginative, discriminating and, though innately modest, you develop a keen sense of the value of your faculties and become more outgoing, prouder of your achievements as you grow older. Excellent at research, you could succeed as a scientist, educator or journalist; could also excel at almost any of the arts. ## Cab rider hit, killed

HOUSTON (AP) — A taxicab passenger was killed Monday night when he allegedly jumped out of a cab in which he was riding, tried to run across a highway and was struck by a second cab, state police said.

Officers said papers on the body tentatively identified him as Dr. Charles T. Disney, 50, of Uniontown, Ohio.

Both cabs were operated by women drivers, investigators said, and both were employed by the same cab company.

Police quoted Curleen Grigsby Basile as saying she picked up a passenger at Houston Intercontinental Airport and was instructed to take him to a Houston hotel.

Along the way, she told police, the man tried to attack her and when she stopped the cab and got out and ran across U.S. 59, the man chased her. She said he ripped out the cab's microphone when she tried to summon help.

Police said the man was struck by a cab driven by Florence Miller, 46.

Ohio Perspective Guidelines eyed for shock parole

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Inmates convicted of any first degree felony would be excluded from eligibility for shock parole under new guidelines being considered for the controversial early release program.

The present shock parole law permits inmates to be released after six months imprisonment unless they have been convicted of murder or aggravated murder, or have been previously jailed for more than 30 days.

Conceding that the program has not received favorable public acceptance, Director of Rehabilitation and Correction George F. Denton is studying further restrictions offered by the Adult Parole Authority.

"Under our new rules," Denton said, "I will be willing to exclude first degree felons" from eligibility for shock parole.

Denton estimated that this exclusion would cut back the number of inmates released by about 25 per cent.

A career man with 27 years experience in corrections, the director views shock parole as a "useful tool for discretionary release." He asserted that four of five applications are denied under the current program, which took effect Jan. 1, 1974.

The controversy and bad publicity, Denton contended, stem from isolated incidents of questionable parole approvals.

One of those incidents has prompted sharp criticism from a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge, who called the release of a convicted heroin pusher a "total insult to our system of justice."

The convict, Carlos Aleman Jr. of Chicago, was freed recently after serving two years of a 50 to 100 year sentence for sale of $264,000 worth of heroin to an undercover agent.

Judge John Patton, who sentenced Aleman, accused the parole board of a "complete copout." Nolan Snyder, chairman of the parole board, said Aleman was released to his wife because he had lived up to the guidelines.

He had been found innocent of a drug charge in 1968, and a murder charge was dismissed in 1970.

The rationale for shock parole is implicit — that the trauma of incarceration will have a deterrent effect on a first offender, but the same inmate may well become hardened by prison influences during a long term.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

After ten years of abuse, they'll blow the whistle

DEAR ABBY: My co-workers and I have worked in this variety store for nearly 35 years. It's a multi-million dollar chain operation which is well known from coast to coast.

For the last ten years, we have had a manager who we think has a screw loose. First of all, he breaks all the company rules. He should work from 8 to 5:30 p.m. but he leaves the store every day at noon and doesn't come back until next morning. We don't know where he goes, but he tells everyone that if there are any phone calls for him, we should say he "stepped out for a minute" and will call them back. We're supposed to get their names and numbers and he returns their calls the following day.

He is very abusive to those under him. We have gotten together and decided that ten years of taking his abuse and covering up for him is enough, and we want to blow the whistle on him by reporting his absenteeism to the executive office. But who should do this? No one wants to write the letter and sign his name to it. We've been battling this for years.

Some of us would even quit but we are so close to retirement and pensions we hate to do it. Answer, please?

WORKING STIFF
DEAR STIFF: If you're telling it like it is (and I believe you are), no one person should write the letter. ALL of you should write it and sign your names.

DEAR ABBY: I just returned from a meeting. It was open to the public. A Protestant minister offered a prayer, and in it he said, "I ask this in the name of our Lord, Jesus Christ."

Abby, I am all for prayer, but I am not of the Christian faith, and I was not the only person there who wasn't. Don't you think it's time that some clergymen realize that Christianity is not the only faith in the world? I know I am not alone in my feelings. I happen to live in a small town where there are many non-Christian people who are devout in their own religions.

I don't mean any disrespect to anyone, Abby, but this may open the eyes of some clergymen who go out of their churches and into the community and thoughtlessly assume that Christianity is the only religion in the world.

SMALL TOWN, MO.
DEAR SMALL TOWN: You make a good point.

DEAR ABBY: Two months ago, I got full custody of my four-year-old son. His mother gave him up because her social life was more important.

When I got custody, it was understood that all visitation rights would go to my ex-wife's parents, since she didn't care if she ever saw the boy again. NOW she says maybe she will see him next month, or in six months from now she isn't "sure."

I called her yesterday to ask if my present wife could adopt the boy. She said she would never consent to that because she didn't want to give up her "motherhood." Now, if you can make any sense out of that, you're a lot smarter than I think you are, and I think you're pretty smart.

The boy has fully accepted my wife as his "mommy" and doesn't miss his former mother at all, mainly because he hardly ever saw her.

I've talked to a lawyer about this and he said he didn't think my wife could adopt the boy without my ex's consent but he didn't know much about it because he had never handled a case like that before.

Can you help us?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: I am not qualified to give legal advice, and from what you tell me, neither is your lawyer. Get another lawyer and let him advise you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOT AND BOTHERED IN MILLERSBURG": Did that letter really come from the Millersburg Ohio Fire Department? Or is somebody trying to make an ash out of you?

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN M. HAYSLIP

Marriage vows exchanged in Mount Sterling church

Miss Jana Marie Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Frazier of Mount Sterling, became the bride of Steven Michael Hayslip, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hayslip, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, Jan. 24 in the Mount Sterling First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Lynn Rainsberger performed the 7:30 p.m. ceremony before an altar decorated with two seven-branch candelabra with blue and white bows.

A half-hour of music preceded the ceremony presented by Mrs. Peggy Snyder.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, high jeweled neckline and bishop sleeves. Her A-line skirt fell softly from the empire waistline. Her chapel-length mantilla of silk illusion was edged in matching lace and held in place with a Camelot bridal bonnet covered in Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of blue and white carnations with white daisies and baby's breath and assorted greenery.

Mrs. Vickey Cooper, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaid was Mrs. Linda Bricker. Their gowns were in blue velvet. Each carried blue and white carnations with yellow daisies and baby's breath with greenery and blue streamers.

Miss Carrie Cooper was the flower girl. She wore a blue velvet gown identical to that of the other attendants.

Charles K. Bricker carried out the duties of best man and William Reed Frazier seated the wedding guests. Master Bill Beaver was the ringbearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Frazier selected a formal length yellow gown with white accessories. Her corsage was of red, white and blue carnations with baby's breath. Mrs. Hayslip greeted guests in a beige formal length gown. Her corsage was of blue white and pink carnations with baby's breath.

Hostesses for the reception honoring the couple in the parlor of the church were Miss Janie Rapp, Miss Jerre Rapp and Miss Becky Beauman. Miss Bonnie Beaver was in charge of the guest book.

British leader backs little man

LONDON (AP) — Margaret Thatcher, the grocer's daughter who became leader of Britain's Conservative party, has spoken up for the nation's small businessmen.

Recalling her father's small grocery, Mrs. Thatcher said: "I knew full well the tremendous number of hours which went into earning our keep."

"I hope you will see that I come not as a politician who only knows about politics, but as a person who really does know from experience, the massive problems you have everyday in your business," she said Monday at a rally organized by the National Board of Trade.

Quadrupled tax on taconite eyed

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A spokesman for the taconite industry in northeastern Minnesota has accused Gov. Wendell Anderson of proposing to break a promise to the industry by calling for "exorbitant increases" in the taconite production tax.

Anderson Monday night recommended that the tax be nearly quadrupled, from 33 cents to $1.25 per ton of taconite pellets and be tied to the price of finished sheet steel.

Aides to the governor said the skyrocketing price of steel, the massive expansion of the taconite industry in Minnesota and the fear of underpricing irreplaceable resources had led to the decision.

County jail blaze started by inmate

The Fayette County jail was set on fire by an inmate early Tuesday morning, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported along with a vehicular fire and a garage fire. Washington C.H. firemen reported two fires.

The Fayette County jail was set afire by inmate David Brown, 36, of Jeffersonville, at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported Brown had piled up bed clothes and foam rubber mattresses and set the pile on fire. Heavy smoke from the foam rubber damaged the doors and wall paint inside the jail and in the outside corridor.

Sheriff's deputies managed to subdue the fire with hand fire extinguishers and then summoned Washington C.H. firemen to clear the air with ventilating equipment.

Sheriff Thompson gave no motive for Brown starting the fire, other than just to create a disturbance. Brown had been sentenced to six months in the county jail on a stabbing incident at the Rocking Chair Inn, during which a Washington C.H. man was cut during a fight with Brown.

A trailer loaded with hay and pulled by a truck driven by Frank P. Yoakum of Columbus, caught fire at 8:30 p.m. Monday, at the I-71 entrance ramp, off Ohio 41.

Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy R.A. Russell, who was at the scene, reported the fire ignited two bales of hay which Yoakum was able to pull off the trailer. The Jeffersonville Fire Department was summoned to the scene and put out the burning hay. The fire is believed to have been caused by an electrical short. Deputy Russell reported the damage confined to the two hay bales valued at $3.

A second fire, also believed to have been caused by an electrical short, started in a garage belonging to Larry Allen, at his 11025 Ohio 729-NW residence.

A passing motorist, Ray Long of Jeffersonville, noticed the smoke at 11:55 a.m. Monday and stopped. Finding Allen not at home, Long went to a neighbor's home and called the Jeffersonville Fire Department, who responded and put out the flames.

Fayette County Sheriff's Sgt. John L. Emrick was at the scene and reported moderate damage.

A third fire in the mens' room ceiling at the Sohio Service station at the corner of Dayton and Oakland avenues was also caused by an electrical short at 4:40 p.m. Monday.

Washington C.H. firemen, who were summoned to put out the blaze, reported they had to tear up the ceiling to find the fire and upon so doing, subdued it with water.

Washington C.H. firemen were alerted to one last fire before the day ended. Children playing with the burning smudge pots at the corner of Sycamore and Broadway streets Monday evening, tipped them over causing the leaking fuel oil to burn in the street.

Fireman Ronnie Cox was dispatched to check the report and resolved the situation by setting the pots upright once again.

Fire story incorrect

A fire reported in Monday's Record-Herald, at the Ward Morris residence at 217 1/2 Central Place, behind Roney's Auto Parts store, contained several errors. Below is an account of the incident which caused nearly $2,000 worth of damage to personal contents.

The fire was discovered by Morris' grandson, 10-year-old Steven. Steven and his sisters, Tiffany, 6, and Whitney, 4, had been staying at the Morris residence, along with their mother and father, Judy and Tom Watts, while awaiting construction on a new house to be completed.

Steven awoke at 8:06 a.m. Sunday, to find the bedroom he was sleeping in to be filled with smoke. He was able to wake up the other members of his family and his grandfather, enabling them to escape without injury.

Washington C. H. firemen responded and put out the blaze with water. Unfortunately, some $2,000 in clothing and other possessions were consumed by the flames.

The family is presently residing at Ward Morris' new residence, 221 W. Temple St., where he had planned to move, because the apartment which burned was destined to be demolished in the near future by the Huntington Bank, which owned the building.

Mrs. Watts stated that Steven needs clothing because he lost everything in the blaze. He wears a size 10 shirt, a size 10 slim pants and size 3 1/2 to 4-D shoes. Clothing, toys, furniture or donations can be brought to 221 W. Temple St. The family had no insurance.

Farm land tax meeting is slated here tonight

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners reminded Fayette County farm-owners that a farm land tax meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Mahan Building.

According to chairman Ray Warner, the meeting is being coordinated by the Fayette County Extension Office and county auditor Mary Morris.

The purpose of the meeting is to explain the various options available to farmers allowing for taxation of agricultural land based on agricultural use value rather than its speculative value, to answer landowner questions and to clarify the present situation in the county before the 1976 land re-appraisal.

The commissioners also reported that all recommendations issued during a Sept. 10, 1974 inspection of the Fayette

By The Associated Press
Cloudy skies and mild temperatures dominated the Ohio weather scene this morning. Some light drizzle was falling from the clouds in different spots. Temperatures were in the 30s and low 40s.

Over southern Ohio the clouds were not very thick and the sun was to burn through giving some partial sunshine today over those areas, according to the National Weather Service forecast.

A weak low pressure area over the western Great Lakes was to be moving southeastward and there was a chance of some light rain moving into northwestern Ohio late today . . . and then overspreading the entire state tonight.

Colder air moving in behind the low pressure area may change the light rain to flurries over northwestern portions by morning.

Temperatures were forecast to range from the upper 40s over northern Ohio to the upper 50s in southern Ohio this afternoon. They are to fall back to the mid 30s to mid 40s by morning.

There will be a chance of flurries over northern and central Ohio on Wednesday while southern sections could start to see some partial clearing setting in as high pressure moves eastward from the west.

Temperatures will be cooler than today's with highs in the upper 30s and 40s.

Fair Thursday, except a chance of snow flurries over the northeast. A chance of rain Friday and Saturday. Highs 40 to 45. Lows in the upper 20s and the 30s.

The present-day calendar was introduced by Pope Gregory III in the 16th century and is known as the Gregorian calendar.

Deputies check three break-ins

Three burglaries were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department today, along with incidents of larceny, vandalism and property destruction. Washington C. H. police reported grand larceny, petty theft and criminal mischief incidents.

The Sohio and Sunoco service stations, located at the intersection of I-71 and Ohio 38, were burglarized sometime between 3 a.m. and 3:53 a.m. Monday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

An undetermined amount of money was taken from the Sohio station by burglars who broke a window in the overhead garage door on the south side of the building to gain entrance.

The Sunoco station was entered on the northeast side of the building and stolen from that station was a tool box and several Craftsman tools valued at $480. A pool cue stick was also missing. Sheriff's deputies are investigating the burglary.

A third burglary, reported by sheriff's deputies, occurred at the Eldon Haffner residence in Milledgeville, sometime between 12 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday.

A set of Craftsman tools and tool box valued at $270, were taken from the kitchen of the house, but no signs of forced entry into the home were detected.

A stop sign at the intersection of West Lancaster and Jeffersonville-West Lancaster roads was stolen sometime between 12 a.m. and 11 p.m. Monday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Prayer breakfast draws 42 persons

The teen prayer breakfast met Tuesday at the South Side Church of Christ, 921 S. Fayette St., with 42 present.

"The Cost of Heaven" was the topic used by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond during the meditation time. Toni Conley and Linda Morrison lead the singing, accompanied by Cindy Van Meter.

After a breakfast of scrambled eggs, meat, toast and milk, Miss Donova Stickley, teacher at the Middle School spoke on the "Price of Our Freedom." She listed the price that the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence paid and challenged us to willingly make a similar sacrifice.

The next prayer breakfast will be held Tuesday Feb. 25 at 6:45 a.m. at the South Side Church of Christ. All youth grades 9-12 are welcome.

Industrial park improvement eyed

An improvement project for the Washington C.H. Industrial Park was approved by members of the Community Improvement Corp. at the regular monthly meeting held Tuesday morning in the City Office Building.

Signs and lighting will be installed at the two entrances of the industrial park to provide both safety and beautification. The entrances are located off Ohio 753 and Old Chillicothe Road at the intersection of Kenskill Avenue.

Community Improvement Corp. members also discussed plans for a joint visit representatives of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce and City Council with area industries to review various problems.

In other matters, CIC members discussed the possibility of returning ownership of railroad spurs in the industrial park to the Chessie System, and the location of the Thatcher Plastics Co. in the B&H Enterprises building.

Man committed

A 22-year-old Washington C.H. man was committed to the Columbus State Mental Hospital at 5:38 p.m. Sunday. Washington C.H. Police Specialist William Cales who transported the man to the state hospital, explained his parents could no longer control him and he was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, where a physician on duty committed him.

5, was also stolen. Police stated the check had been in her purse in the store.

A tool kit valued at $25 and a portable radio valued at $10, was taken from a car owned by the Dayton Power and Light Co., while the auto was parked in the DP&L parking lot on East Street from Friday night until Monday morning, police reported.

The right rear window of a car owned by David Stenart, Wagner Way, was shattered sometime last week, while parked in the apartment parking area, police reported.

Dessie Stritenberger, 15, of 720 Campbell St., was bitten by a dog at 4 p.m. Monday, while walking in front of 426 E. Paint St. City police stated the girl was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

Shoplifting charge filed

A 77-year-old Washington C.H. man was arrested by city police at 6:12 p.m. Monday and charged with petty theft by shoplifting.

Chester A. Bryan, 631 Gregg St., allegedly took four apples valued at 50 cents and two pounds of ground beef valued at $2 from Food World, Columbus Avenue, according to police reports.

Bryan has been released on $1,000 bond.

Plane search unsuccessful

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Searchers were unsuccessful Monday in an attempt to locate a small plane missing since last Thursday with three Ohio men aboard.

The plane vanished in bad weather on a flight from the southern coastal town of North Bend to Eugene, about 75 miles in distance, said Ralph McGinnis, head of the State Aeronautics Board.

McGinnis said searchers were uncertain whether the plane flew up the coast or took an inland route. No flight plan was filed.

National Guard and Coast Guard helicopters covered both routes Monday but found no sign of a downed aircraft.

Aboard the craft were David Lamb of Bellvue; David Stadley, 44, and his brother, John, 40, both of Castalia.

What About Your "Income Protection"?

What happens if you get sick, or an accident prevents your continued working?

Of course, there may be some protection through social security, a company health policy, workmen's compensation, or disability income riders on other insurance policies.

But, in all of these there are some deficiencies.

Social Security covers TOTAL disability - you must be unable to do ANY gainful work.

Workmen's Compensation usually applies to on-the-job injuries.

Company Health plans usually end when one leaves an employer.

So, give some thought to a disability income policy.

BUT, very carefully consider the conditions of such policies. Some are almost ridiculously

Opening lead—ace of clubs.

The opening lead is often the most critical play of a hand. In the long run, most players give away more tricks on the opening lead than on the next twelve tricks combined.

The reason this occurs is not hard to find; it is obviously easier to defend effectively when you've seen 26 cards than when you've seen only the 13 cards in front of you before dummy comes down.

The best guide to the opening lead generally comes from the bidding. Declarer and his partner normally exchange revealing information about their hands, which the defenders are then at liberty to turn to their advantage.

Examine this case where West, in considering his opening lead, should deduce from the bidding that North-South are likely to have at least eight clubs (probably divided 3-5 or 4-4, and possibly 4-5).

This perfectly valid assumption leads to the conclusion that East has at most one club and can ruff the second round of the suit.

Accordingly, West leads the ace of clubs and continues with his highest club—the ten—as a signal for East to return the higher suit (as between spades and diamonds) after he ruffs the club continuation at trick two.

Without the suit-directing play of the ten, East would have a difficult choice about which suit to play at trick three. But thanks to the ten play, East confidently leads a spade after ruffing the club.

West takes the ace, plays a third club, and South loses four tricks before he even gets started.

Without the ace of clubs lead, declarer would not have had the slightest difficulty making the contract.

Pleurisy can be Painful

I have had a sharp pain in my chest for six weeks. I just found out that I have pleurisy. I always thought that pleurisy was the same as pneumonia. Is there a difference?

Mrs. V.M., Ohio

Dear Mrs. M.:
Pleurisy is an infection or inflammation of the "pleura," a fine membrane that covers the outside of the lungs.

Another similar pleural membrane completely lines the inside of the entire chest cavity. In good health, when the lungs expand, these two layers glide smoothly over each other. When there is infection or inflammation of the pleural linings, they rub against each other. This is responsible for difficulty in breathing, and the severe stabbing, shooting pain of pleurisy.

Pleurisy is, in itself, not pneumonia. It may be a complication of pneumonia, or may exist without it.

Before the era of the antibiotics, fluid and pus would accumulate between the two layers of the pleura, and complicate pleurisy. Today, almost miraculously, with the antibiotics these complications of pleurisy are rare.

An injury of the chest wall, which may have gone unnoticed, sometimes may cause pleurisy, even in the absence of any infection.

Had you brought your pain to the attention of your doctor earlier, treatment might have been started more quickly and you might have been spared this long period of discomfort.

Is it unusual to have arthritis of the neck at the age of 50? I have no arthritis anywhere else in the body.

Mr. J.H., N.J.

Dear Mr. H.:
Many people younger than 50 have osteoarthritis of the cervical spine of the neck.

Sometimes, evidence of this is found during a routine X-ray examination among people who have never had any symptoms related to it.

It is believed that when man graduated from his four-legged position these changes became more pronounced.

Constant movement of the neck may be responsible for deposits of calcium that show up on an X-ray.

This type of localized arthritis in the neck can occur without any signs of arthritis anywhere else in the body.

Soviet ballerina arrives in Rome

ROME (AP) — Soviet ballerina Valeria Fedicheva, expelled from Leningrad's Kirov Ballet company after marrying an American, has arrived in Rome to be reunited with her husband.

"I could no longer remain away from the stage and away from my husband, Martin Friedman of the Baltimore ballet. We will be going to the United States soon and I hope to be dancing again," Miss Fedicheva, 37, said.

She married Friedman in early 1974 after a 13-year engagement. The couple met in Philadelphia in 1961 while the Kirov was touring the United States. The couple has an 8-month-old son.

If melted at a uniform rate, the Antarctic icecap would yield about six million cubic miles of water — enough to feed the Mississippi River for 50,000 years, all United States rivers for 17,000 years or all rivers in the world for 750 years.

In Focus

by
Charlie Pensyl

The other night at one of the CKFN classes we did an about-face on the subject of filters. For years it's been my contention that a UV or haze filter left over the lens was just two more surfaces to pick up finger prints, dust, and reflections. But, you see, that was before they came out with the new Hoya multi-coated filters. They're something else.

Another filter that is becoming more and more popular is the FL-D. I wouldn't be without the FL-D in my gadget bag and most of the Infinity Group always have one of these with them. A few years ago most indoor shooting situations were lighted by tungsten lamps, calling for type "B" emulsions, but today fluorescent lights are the thing and most public buildings, and many homes are lighted by the tubes. Now if you ever tried to shoot existing-light stuff under fluorescence you know the kind of skin-tones you come up with. Ludicrous! But the FL-D, with daylight film, gives nice skin-tones and a good color balance. This is a filter you should have with you at all times.

The February 27 class will be the last session of this CKFN series. Advanced SLR techniques is the subject.

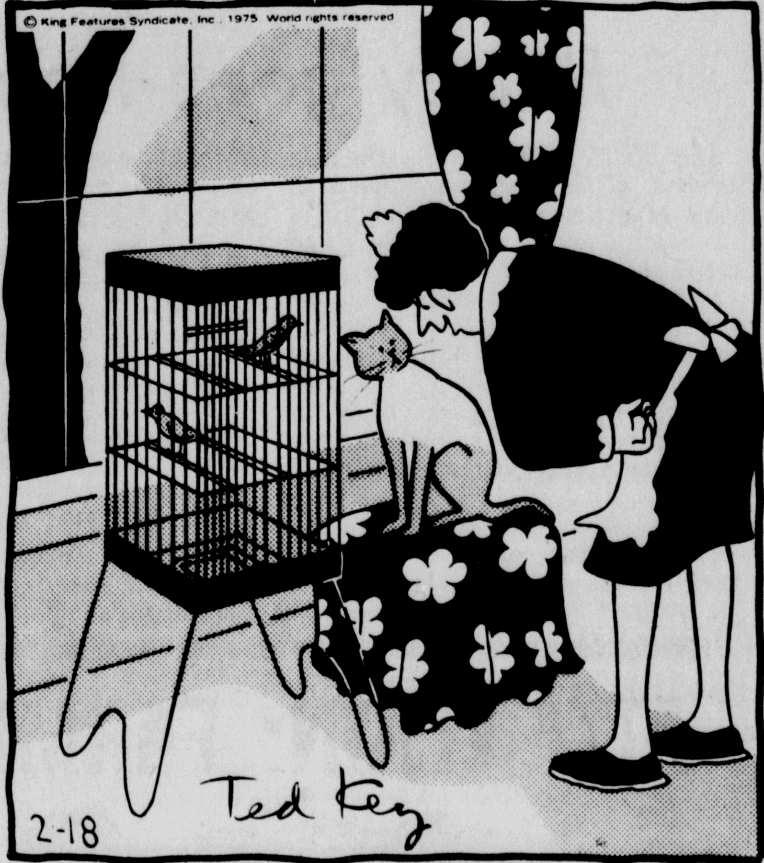

Remember the cat in the cartoons who always insisted "I hate Mises to pieces"? We heard that cat (or another in the same family) speaking at a local service club a couple of weeks ago. Now this cat, scorning the great works of Ludwig von Mises, gave us a sample of the confusion of John Maynard Keynes. Economics is an interesting field, and there is a guy named Percy L. Greaves, Jr. who has written a book, UNDERSTANDING THE DOLLAR CRISIS, that I think is the greatest thing in this area since Henry Hazlitt's ECONOMICS IN ONE LESSON. And for more on Keynes, read KEYNES AT HARVARD. Yes, we have all of these books in stock.

Lone sextuplet finally goes home

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The sole survivor of the Lange sextuplets is home after more than two months in the hospital where her brothers and sisters died.

And Jolene Rene's mother says, "We just hope nothing happens to her ... because we've lost so many sons and daughters."

Charlotte Lange gave birth to quadruplets and to sextuplets in little more than a year. Only Jolene is still alive.

Jolene was the first-born and strongest of the sextuplets delivered three months premature last Dec. 8. She weighed less than two pounds at birth, but she weighs five pounds now, still about 2½ pounds less than the average newborn baby.

"We've had a lot of discouraging moments, but she makes up for it," said Mrs. Lange as she took Jolene home from the hospital Monday. "We've really put all our hopes and dreams into her."

Mrs. Lange, 26, said she used fertility drugs for both pregnancies. The quadruplets she bore in November 1973 died shortly after birth.

She told newsmen she has not decided whether to try using a fertility drug again or to adopt a child.

Officers probe two accidents

An accident apiece was reported by city police and Fayette County Sheriff's deputies today.

A rear-end collision involving cars driven by Charles T. Shoup, 28, Cincinnati and Homer L. Hughes, 41, Houston, occurred at 10:20 a.m. Monday, when the Shoup auto showed for an unidentified vehicle which had turned off Palmer Road onto the U.S. 35 bypass exit and then upon realizing it was an exit, started backing onto Palmer Road.

Shoup, upon slowing was able to keep from striking the confused driver, but Hughes, who was traveling behind Shoup, was unable to slow fast enough to keep from colliding with Shoup.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies estimated moderate damage to both autos, but reported no injuries.

A car driven by Carol S. Marshall, 28, Greenfield, bumped into a car belonging to Pamela K. Bryan, 632 E. Market St., which was parked on E. Court Street, in front of Marilee's Flower shop.

The accident, which occurred at 4:30 p.m. Monday, resulted when Ms. Marshall was leaving a parking place by the Bryan auto, city police reported.

Five youths charged in theft case

Four Milledgeville juveniles and an 18-year-old Milledgeville youth have been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged in connection with the theft of $900 cash and several checks Sunday night from the home of Arnett Kelley in Milledgeville.

Being held in the Fayette County Juvenile Detention facility are a 15-year-old girl charged with grand theft and unruliness; two boys, ages 15 and 17, each charged with receiving stolen property, and a 17-year-old girl charged with unruliness.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson said Raymond Rinehart, 18, Milledgeville, is being held in lieu of $1,000 bond in the Fayette County jail. He is charged with receiving stolen property.

Sheriff Thompson said the five youths were arrested by Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks after completion of an investigation Monday.

The three boys are each charged with receiving over $100 in stolen money. Sgt. Crooks stated that the money and checks taken were recovered by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department during the investigation of the incident.

Rinehart was scheduled to appear Tuesday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court, while hearings for the four juveniles will be held at a later date in Fayette County Juvenile Court.

Projects eyed by PTO group

During its February meeting, the Eastside Parent-Teacher Organization outlined its proposed purchases for the school in 1975. A list of project proposals was submitted by a PTO subcommittee and approved by the membership.

Academic materials included books for the library, math skill aids for grades three, four, and five, books for the kindergarten class, supplementary books and elementary science books.

Audio-visual equipment slated for purchase included three film screens, five projector carts, four cassette recorders, three record players and a number of cassette learning tapes.

Names for purchase in the physical education department were 20 athletic rubber balls, a tetherball outfit, two basketballs and several jump ropes. The PTO also resolved to repair or replace broken teeter totters.

Two donations were approved. The PTO will donate $100 to the Eastside Cub Scout Pack and another $100 to the Eastside safety patrol to help finance their annual trip to Kings Island.

Those members on the project recommendation subcommittee were Dick Anthony, Gary Brown, Jane Mossbarger, Rodger Mickle, Larry Bennett and Terry Feick.

Museum acquires Picasso painting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A 1918 cubist composition by Picasso, entitled "Harlequin with Violin," has been acquired by the Cleveland Museum of Art.

A museum spokesman said $1 million "would not be inappropriate" to pay for the picture but declined to be more specific.

Picasso painted "Harlequin" just before his marriage to Koklova, a dancer he met while working for the Ballets Russes.

"This is a major masterpiece in the most important style of the 20th Century, by a major artist of the 20th century and by the man who invented the style," said Edward Henning, curator of modern art.
